I'll be adding red colored words when I'll have to explain to a person reading about it or make a reaction or try to fix the grammar unless I don't know if it's right or wrong.

I am happy that you didn't completely hide away their name like an idiot and claim that you made this (animation) like an idiot but I hate how you overuse emojis for dramatic effect and instead of clips you show entire episodes you're literally using its popularity to get views in your videos by showing the work of other people on your own channel and not even leaving a link to the actual episode. if you were actually saving this for the rest of us then why don't you leave a link to the actual episode and hide away the name the notorious Luke for literally no reason with (I wanted to say " crappy " here but I didn't because that would just grow the possibility of the creator getting mad and deleting this comment)

(Goten Black- Ch.1 The Fallen Saiyan)

https://www.youtube.com/watch? v=l6F3a_Jb5Sg&t=50s

the explanation of who Goten black is great it is told realistically by the characters but everything else sounds like they were reading from the script I don't like the other voice lines and also there are some problems I have with that story like let's say why he would ask out loud how Trunks survived even though he literally saw him teleport with the time machine he's never seen the time machine before so he wouldn't know what it was and how did he get the time ring? why does Goten have black kamehameha instead of the normal one since he's normal Goku instead of Zamasu who has a ki of a kai and before Goten was even born Goku was already dead in that time line so making him a villain wouldn't work unless he was from a completely different aka the future version of the main time line but then that doesn't explain why he would go to future trunks' timeline in the first place

(Goten Black- Ch. 2: A Cry From the Future)

[https://www.youtube.com/watch?
v=gtNVntRoACw](https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=gtNVntRoACw)

0:31 this is another level of stupid plot so... no It would make a lot more sense for him to kill goku and for the others to deal with the consequences of it because if the story runs by plot alone and not the choices and actions of the characters with their respective personalities the story is going to be as bad if not worse than the suicide squad sorry if it sounded too harsh I just want to say my thoughts about the story so you won't make such mistakes by the way I do like how you name the episodes it has that dragon ball feel to it also the art is great and I'm happy that someone is making episodes of this I haven't seen many stories about Goten Black as an episodic series (Sayori Wants To Read Manga!!!!(Balance Pt 1)(DDLC Plus))

[https://www.youtube.com/watch?
v=Xlrc4eoNIZM](https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Xlrc4eoNIZM) in my opinion there is... there are problems with this one it more feels like a mod and the person writing the script wasn't the same person who was writing the other ones there are only two different music and switching one to (the) other feels weird, the characters are changing to different poses and get shy for no reason like in a mod, characters sometimes don't even do the things what the characters would have, it sounds less realistic than the interactions they had before (.) instead of two actual people talking to one another it more sounds like (two fictional) characters are talking and there is not much emotion and payoff (.) there isn't even anything to worry about. I don't think this is made by the same people who made the parts before that and if they are it still makes no sense because even in normal conversations characters were more realistic (,) said what they definitely would say in that situation instead of someone else trying to write the lines of the character (.) so I think this isn't even doki doki plus again I have experienced the normal story (there was a " to" here but it was wrong) switching to a mod before in one of the youtube videos where there was a " good ending " to ddlc (Natsuki's route I didn't say it there because it felt awkward and... I didn't want to because I was embarrassed because they were obviously too idiotic to even think twice before judging me... HEY I CAN STILL HEAR YOU!... or maybe not I don't think anyone's going to read this one in the first place.) I realized just how different the mod was from the actual (it said " thing " when I meant to say story and I actually only realized it after Natsuki and the player went outside after the club was over and Natsuki was talking to me after having couple of interactions with other things. When I realized it I started thinking to myself the same way I do when I'm depressed that this " good ending " could never capture the same feeling actual ddlc did there was no emotion and good story writing I felt defeated knowing that not a single modder could write as well as the creators and that there was no good ending but the good thing is that there was also the original ddlc Natsuki route before it switched to the mod and I realized just how relatable she really is her poem was the first one that I've read and it had a deeper meaning which I realized before the characters started talking about it. I like stories with deeper meanings and having that realization that it had a deeper meaning I got very happy.) and also even though they were literally crammed in with the actual story so you weren't even told when the mod part of it started.

((this is a comment of someone else) I think it's part of the lore, that the characters have changes even though they should be acting normal without Monika being sentient because of errors in the universe) that more sounds like a copout or just something made up to explain away the problems that I had with the story even though I do think it's an interesting hypothesis it's kind of like how Future Trunks gets a new form so the creators could sell more toys of him and their excuse for adding such a dumb transformation with no buildup or explanation of how it works being that Trunks just got angry why didn't he get angry when his friend died? no answer why didn't he get so angry when his mother got killed in front of his eyes? no answer how does the form work exactly just getting angrier? then that's just a crappier version of super saiyan 2 which was given to Trunks for plot purposes to keep up with Goku Black's power I don't think your comment is that bad or that idea is bad it's not it kind of fits in but at the same time it's a copout for a story it makes no sense because it makes no sense for anything to go wrong and then magically continue working normally without any fix in the screwed up code it's a story we're talking about if they don't at least give us hints and explain what is happening then it's just something we're making up ourselves to ignore those problems or in the worst case scenario they just say that that is the case after hearing about that idea even though there was a real world reason like let's say the writer of the story couldn't write that part of the story so someone else did and then when he came back he had to fix the damage that was done by trying to make a story off of the actions of the characters again I don't want to be offensive or disrespectful I'm just saying what I think about it (FANFICTION - Episode 1 - The Phantom-like Menace - TOON SANDWICH)

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=DI7FN5AM_7A here's a theory I was thinking about every story detail that was happening and thought that those symbols wouldn't just be added because if my Georgian Teacher taught me anything it's that in detective movies you need to focus on the details because the writer wouldn't just add things for the heck of it why would they explain away how every single overpowered weapon being locked away unless it had some sort of payoff in the story? and also why would Oscar use something that colored the glass shards of the window orange? and if it wasn't the glass shard of the window he was cleaning why would Oscar use a weapon that isn't made of gold he physically wouldn't do that, also Harley Quinn mentioned casually how she wants to use a time machine which makes me think that the creators added that so we wouldn't overlook it so maybe that's why Batman could've died 8 years ago while... not really dying 8 years ago he got killed back in time but also we know that Alita wasn't damaged in any way she was just detached which is the same ability the gauntlet had when Thanos was manipulating the suit Bruce was wearing and sticking it inside of rocks. also Harley mentions how her daughter isn't going to see it meaning that it would be insane for someone to do such a thing even for villains which as we see aren't really villains anymore because Hela isn't slicing Thor's other eye out. also we hear how Harley Quinn's Daughter had a conversation with her classmates and how they were talking about Villains and Heroes which isn't okay because she mentions that it doesn't matter so maybe one of her classmates who were bullied at school for being a son/daughter of villains would turn into an actual villain to fit in and be excepted for once in her/his life, also combined powers of villains would be pretty handy if it meant getting through that locked door and getting the weapons time travelling back in time and do what she/he needs to do (or at the very least what's happening in her school is going to have something to do in the story) and also all of the bodies were of heroes.... I think but hey that's just a theory a.... you know what? I'll try to come up with my own phrase... nope I've got nothing but hey that's just a theory a film theory' remember not to take something at face value

Food Theory: Chuck E Cheese Pizza, Should You Be Scared?

[https://www.youtube.com/watch?
v=LdypKKQ8uA&t=208s](https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=LdypKKQ8uA&t=208s)

7:52 if Covid wasn't a thing I think there would be a perfectly good way to test this

MatPat could've called as many fans of his as possible to take up the entire space of the restaurant so all of them would do something to the pizzas like take away the pepperoni and put it on another part of the pizza so if we saw another fan of MatPat get the pizza that has been recycled by another fan who intentionally screwed it up to make it stand out over the others they could find out that Chucky Cheese was doing such a thing even if it would be harder to do it would still be a possibility because let's be honest there's no way they'd be either getting recycled pizzas from other Chucky Cheese Pizzerias or even have enough Recycled pizzas that didn't stand out over the others aka the ones that were intentionally tampered with by the fans what if goku and vegeta revived the saiyans

(The dumbest what if video in my opinion)

[https://www.youtube.com/watch?
v=mrZN5Yyglec&t=536s](https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=mrZN5Yyglec&t=536s)

4:12 wait up are you telling me that not only he has enough power to do that but revive people who have been dead for longer than a decade?

8:47 I hate DBS Goku the most in the entire series and yet you decided to make him even dumber * slow clap * bravo Mr. Bravo

8:01 did she become some sort of weird Pokémon? Why is she saying Kakarot over and over did she become Broly? Is she a normal freaking person who would say natural things to a kid she lost for over a freaking decade ago

7:16 is Goku's hair style and face not enough for Bardock to realize anything? He was able to realize that it was Goku in his vision even when Goku wasn't even looking at him

Edit: heck if Bardock was able to find out what Frieza was planning to do with small details nobody bothered to think about why the heck wouldn't he not put the details together

1 he said Kaka- which could've ended with Rot

2 they got revived somehow

3 there are Saiyans with weird clothing who don't seem to be from around here

4 Gohan's glasses are made of... glass so it makes no sense for him to think that it was a scouter

5 what type of idiot would ignore Gohan acting up when Goku starts saying Kakarot he obviously doesn't want Bardock to realize it for... some dumb reason

6 it's been decades since planet Vegeta got destroyed do you really think that he'd just be all like: oh you're 30 years older than my newborn son? Whelp I guess you're not him then see ya later

And also them not remembering them being dead is just something that makes no sense 6:51 don't you mean beard? And also he could've just as easily shaved it

And also also why are they so dumb that they don't even know how Vegeta's Cousin looks like 5:30 where did the other world go again? Did they not go to hell? And also why don't they remember crap from the other world

That's same as saying that Frieza after he got revived somehow forgot everything that happened to him when he was dead

4:50 Vegeta didn't change in the matter of seconds Goku

It took decades for him to change and the world around him had to support his development as well like how Akira Toriyama hates him so much that even after his development he turned him into a punching bag... and also he learnt from other people like Future Trunks

Now take that and multiply by the amount of Saiyans that live on that planet

They wouldn't give a damn about what Goku says and Goku certainly won't threaten them to be better because 1 Goku wouldn't do that and 2 it will only make them worse people and the entire world changing around the saiyans to brutalize them until they learn voluble lessons is as likely as Avengers beating thanos... heck 10X less likely some of them aren't really punishments

If I was an adult and got enough time to build an entire Minecraft Lego set I'd probably drown everyone in the building with tears of joy because let's be honest

If I had that amount of time to take a break as an adult then eat your heart out every millionaire ever who still can't get 8 hours of sleep and when they do still feel tired and no I'm just a 15 year old not an adult or a college student but I sure as hell feel like them and it's only going to get worse because I have literally no plans for the future of my life other than the future of what I'll leave behind after I'm dead or taking a 15 minute nap that would be fine because having 4 years of experience in being a prisoner in my own brain for over an hour is nothing compared to a 15 minute nap or... well it would be painful to try to finish Minecraft so that doesn't count here's a theory (or a hypothesis)

Uncle T is the same character as Troll Face who killed the monster and then became one let's look at the evidence this is the first time the monster coming back and it isn't spelled out why that happened but I think it's because he got challenged because I refuse to believe that it's a song that made it happen

I think it's kind of like how Lying to somebody makes your heart pump faster and make you sweat because your body automatically thinks that it's screwed and needs to protect itself physically and if he's at the very least 60 years old I refuse to believe that he'd just get challenged and lost in that age (and yes I'm talking about his older version because the monster could've been kept away by the stronger aka Younger body) also since he was shocked to see a spilling bottle I believe his weakness is liquid and not whatever Mountain Dew is made of meaning that he could simply become a human again by drinking water meaning that the monster wouldn't appear unless he sweat all the water away he did mention how he used to sing a song in the war but he made notes of music made in the 80s yeah the Rick Roll might have been a joke or a gag but why would he add a " Take on Me " reference?

Take on me was made in 1985 and Never Gonna Give You Up was made in 1987 also we see monsters in this universe leading me to believe that there was a war in the 80s

(why wouldn't he become a monster then? scenario 1 he might not have went to the war since he said that he was singing for healing soldiers meaning that he was in a good enough condition to not need help himself but if this is a too big of a stretch here's scenario 2 where he could've turned into a monster after the 80s but still have war in late 80s and no it can't be a world war because after world war 2 (which ended in 1945) the nukes would've definitely been used if WW3 actually happened meaning that everyone would be dead) also we know that Trollge was kept away for a very long time meaning that the theory that a younger version of Troll Face who killed that monster is the same as this older troll face would stand

BUT HEY I might be making up a story by making more of a hypothesis for a creator who totally didn't intend to make it but screw it I'll call this a theory anyways

BUT HEY that's just a theory a film theory thanks for bothering to read this

Everything Wrong With Spider-Man: Far From Home In Tingle Minutes

17:04 HECK in this day and age when people claim that Chuck-E Cheese sells recycled pizza just by taking a picture of the pizza itself nobody's going to start asking questions?

this dude literally flew around drones that makes Photoshop look like nothing but a pile of junk it was already stated in the past movies that Peter records everything in his suit are you telling me that ThE sUiT sToPpEd ReCoRdInG bEcAuSe Of ToNy StArK or some sh?

and also also are you kidding me? does Internet even exist in this universe? people would be starting to debate this faster than Fnaf fans after a Fnaf Game gets released and also also you're telling me that people are going to trust JJ? seriously? what are you going to make up now marvel that Internet doesn't exist in this universe and also that JJ is actually not a lire and then tell us that all of this totally wasn't shoehorned in the movie so that way the would give Peter a good reason to restart the universe and get quick bucks off of other universe's spider men even though he asked strange for Mysterio to not share his identity instead of deleting everyone's memory about Peter being Spider Man

Jesus Christ this is freaking old hello me from 10 months ago I've been playing Minecraft for 10 months apparently wrote down destinations of places I want to revisit in my journal and even made a diary where I wrote down the interesting things that have happened to me at that time I also got Dragon Ball Fighter Z which is freaking amazing but that's pretty much it my life? yeah I'm totally screwed I'm thinking about how I'll be able to get a job and deal with all of the messed up responsibilities of an adult in 3 short years, since I'm kind of careless about my future job and how I'll do things like pay taxes without dying, I don't have any experience on anything other than barely drawing, writing unfinished stories and forgot how to act well I don't think I'll be getting a job anywhere other than where I'll get less than a living wage so... yeah I refuse to believe that me from 3 years will answer me because either I'll be dead because of my suicidal levels skyrocketing once again or drowning in my own tears hello future me... how's your day been? I hope it's better is what I would have said if I didn't know how life knows to treat you nicely to calm you down and then rip your face off and laugh once you stop thinking about killing yourself I don't think I'm going to go to depression I think

I still do I still do I am doing another project it's still way too fast phased and it still has rough art work and some parts aren't animated or fixed yet I wonder if it'll feel the exact same way when I'll be done with the project to how it felt like when I finished my first project just confused in what else I should do with that free time and not being used to not having rough existing art work be redrawn over and over instead of starting from scratch It's 11:24 pm I was about to say it's the middle of the night but not quite I'm in the other house the one that got renovated with grandma and my little sister it's July 2nd 2022 if anyone's curious in the exact date of time I'll try to get back to writing more things and I'm trying not to sleep because that's when memories and ideas come the most at least for me because even if it's sometimes I find or do something I otherwise wouldn't have because of how quiet it is and how alone I feel, the darkness probably helps too but I'm not totally sure, I feel too energetic at night because I always used to skip sleep at night which is why I'm so sleepy and tired in the day either way future me good luck and I really hope you finished the project until this comment became at least a month old, at most a month and a half

I have sad news, in your description I only have 3 days left school is starting 14 days later and I still can't continue making it because of how stressed out I am I can't work this way even if I put effort it won't be the same kind of effort as motivated effort, my will to add more to the animation, to improve making me excited for it THAT is how I make better work I wasn't as stressed about making the other project because even if I had a time set up for myself the animation was more like looping of the same art and I didn't care how long it's been on my channel now I'm stressed knowing it's been HALF A YEAR since I've made that crappy CaptainSauce sketch and want to show people that that wasn't the best I had to show them that I like his content and that I'm willing to go this far to show my likeness towards his content but... I just can't that doesn't mean I won't continue working on it I just have a lot of doubts future me are there good news or are we both feeling this bad I remember how excited I was to work on it, to make it in summer when I'd have the most time and yet I'm near getting a heart attack that the time flew by just like every other time my heart feels heavy and numb and my head feels swollen in my skull I know there won't be a good news but still don't give up, don't upload a half baked animation don't you dare it doesn't matter if they'll think of both of them as good you need to surprise them by showing how far you're

It's been 3 months and I'm still working on the same project the first comment of this was two years ago... I'm saying this in case anyone who can't see above me the month dates and assumes it happened all at the same time in that year judging by how I didn't read the whole thing I can understand you don't actually care that much about what I say so I'll make this quick I'm a fan of Undertale now... that's pretty much the only big difference that has arrived in 3 months also true death has arrived the death of the year 2022 I... didn't think that much happened this year until realizing just how many things actually did happen after realizing it 2022 felt like multiple years even of itself so yeah I hope the same will be true for 2023 maybe I'll finish it that year? who even knows I want to speak more but I did promise too keep this short so goodbye to nobody that's here

hahahAAAAAAAAAAAAAA I finally jinxed myself I completely gave up on the project and accepted that I've lost the drive to do stuff like animation even if sometimes rarely I do enjoy making one I draw hell of a lot more now it's been 3 more months since the previous comment I've been playing WAY too many games which piss me off because I want to get in the working mindset like I used to where the only enjoyment and break I could have was drawing and writing stories speaking of writing stories I might have found a new way of coming up with ideas for them and it's finding meaning in art that doesn't have any and making up stories off of them so that hoverboard riding while listening to music is purely for fun now just me imagining to be in a great battle with someone like Undyne the undying aka the best boss I've ever freaking seen who made me respect and salute her after her death instead of die of rage or happiness also I really hope SOMEBODY will show up one day and comment something to me even if it takes 10 freaking years I'll... I would've cried with relief and happiness if I will be alive in the future who knows life hits you and when you hit back it hits harder back like how when you finally do something great and get in a rhythm of work it all falls on you and you become lazy when you escape depression lack of personality hits you and lack of ability to relate to anybody because you forget the pain you've been through when you direct your motivation to death and repeating that you don't have much time and stop playing or watching anything too long because it feels too horrifying losing so much time your brain loses sense of it loses all meaning of it and starts being a lazy hunk of... yes I'm talking about my current situation... it'll be downhill and will always be a downhill from whenever time ever so I'll just say if I could hug my future self I would just to have them try to keep on going because sometimes you can go through those downsides like how I recently started drawing again even if it takes for freaking ever and learnt a new way of making stories I should also remember the Wayback machine because I am sure I haven't even scratched the potential of it and am kind of sad that I don't use it as much so if it gets worse and I stop using it this is a note for future me, to remind him to use it to leave a bigger legacy leave more things behind I'll take a page out of past me's book and also say that it's exactly 1:00AM right now March 20th 2023

The Lonely Horror of Re:Zero

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=8mGGfYMI-6Q&t=232s>

(first comment)

there was one episode in Re-Zero which terrified me to the point of skipping the whole thing

It felt like people were beating down a dead horse no not even a dead horse I mean the skeleton of that horse because it was beaten down so much that they ripped off any flesh that they saw on its bones the only flesh that remained was its heart and even that was burnt to ashes and then burnt those ashes and then took the heat that the ashes turned into and even tortured that heat by freezing it and beating it down again

(second comment)

that was inspirational don't get me wrong but does it all even matter if you'll forget your own existence once you die anyway no matter how hard you try no matter how many stories you'll tell about yourself no matter how many records of you you leave behind you'll still die both in the minds of others and physically your decomposed brain will forget what you once were and become nothing but another corpse to add to the pile do you care about a life of a random person in the 1800s? no and even if you tried to there's nothing left of them that you have access to

It's not relieving that you won't feel mental pain by realizing that nobody actually remembers you or finds out about you in the future that every single year every single idea every single battle every single part of your life will be gone simply by your heart stopping to beat for the first time ever whoever think of this as life don't care about their own existence heck even this comment that I'm writing will be gone and nobody will read it in full nobody

just like my future life this comment is nothing but another comment that will never be read

I won't even be able to care about my death because my brain will be decomposed whoever believes in the idea of the afterlife is just another person denying the inevitable people aren't scared of death because they're afraid of hell they've been living in hell their whole lives even good parts of life make your misery worse by you being able to compare the good times you had compared to the terrible you're going through just another hope that life gives you so that way it'll rip it off of your arms and rip it apart in front of your eyes

[https://www.youtube.com/watch?

I have an idea on how super saiyan blue could've been achieved what if super saiyan blue wasn't just given to the characters through training that we didn't even see but the fusion of rage and god ki if the characters got even more mad and desperate like in goku black saga one of them could've gone ssjb by getting angry in their god form like Vegeta finding out about future bulma's death, you know? the person who he loved pretty much his own life, who helped him when nobody else did, the person who even saved his entire timeline by making the time machine, Vegeta even stopped training to spend more time with them (unlike Goku who started telling him that he'd surpass him if Vegeta didn't train, fing c* can't even care for his own family until a cool scene is needed to " reveal " his care for them... anyway) in a timeline with no dragon balls, in a timeline where she lost him in the period of time when Vegeta didn't care for her, in a timeline where she protected her child with her own life that person being ripped away from their lives

Vegeta wouldn't just be furious he would turn Goku Black and himself immortal just to torture him for eternity by ripping every part of his fing body using those organs as weapons to torture him even more and traumatizing the hell out of him and no I'm not talking about Goku's rage moment because 1 he survives a puncture through his lung by the power of plot and 2 we don't see him actually care for his family he's dumb and only cares about reaching new heights he was selfishly living a life while having enough (ahem, ahem) " potential " to save not only the lives of trillions but his own family why didn't he take the page from Vegeta's book, train to protect while also spending time with them

An extreme minority of her viewers; as someone frequenting both channels, the ones surging to Mat's videos and even most of the ones on her own video bad-mouthing the Theorist channels are not those that I see involved in discussion on any of her other videos. It's just bad actors being more visible bc all internet social platforms place unhealthy emphasis on controversial or overly emotive statements (Hey Google, glare at Zuckerberg for me, and then call yourself a hypocrite!) Don't let those few taint your vision of either Ann or the rest of us who watch her content without frothing at the mouth to take down any other online creators mentioned @Kevin I also frequent both channels and was surprised to see Ann taking apart Matpat's clip. I didnt comment on the original videos of either since they were both well scripted and well researched. As someone who dabbled in research themselves in university, I know that different conclusions can come from the same information, let alone different ones. All this to say, nobody is perfect and take all information you receive with a grain of salt!

@Tee i mean, i dont think that was her intention. she just gave a different point of view and opinion when it came to different calcium sources. tbh her way of considering serving sizes instead of grams fits a lot better with her practical approach of actually professionally guiding people towards the better choices for them, than what matpat did, which was still correct, but more fit for a theory of his than what you'd think like irl when handling food choices. ofc she didnt mention everything he said in his video but just what was relevant to her preferred style. if you missed it, matpat mentions her video is pretty long and covers a LOT of content. obv she cant spend 15 min on every video she has to comment/provide more info on. you can interpret this as being unfaithful to the source material, but i dont think it was biased and it would be in bad faith to assume bad intent behind it. its probably purely practical.

@Luna Arli I liked both of the videos and their contents, but I do have to point out the attack on Mat's thumbnail was a bit unnecessary on Ann's part, I know she didn't do it in bad faith but she tried to debunk him like she would debunk other false hacks or such that she usually does on her channel, and when responding to the video/critiques of how it was handled in the comments she was again on the defensive saying she thinks Matt misrepresented the information and then provided data from a source he didn't use to back her point that he didn't show it right. No hate to her she has amazing content, but I think she doesn't want to be just correct in a technical sense, she wants Matt to be wrong, and didn't take it well when he defended his side poignantly.

Captainsauce

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=XAcgw2v3irM> to every person that might find this comment (probably never but I hope someone will)

I wish there were more captainsauce animations where people put effort into making them, because that would show that they actually make it to show how they're willing to lose their blood sweat and tears to make something that would represent their love to the creators they watch and if this doesn't count as being of enough effort you know how I'll feel about every gacha video that was made of our Captain

I think there are many things I could've fixed in this video, added actual animation made better art but I only made this thing in one day views don't mean quality and I can't allow myself to like this video because of how much I hate myself for not making anything better, better than would truly show how much I liked him and was desperate to see an animation of him it had no work put into it and I'm ashamed that this was what the world tasted as a Captainsauce "animation", I'm ashamed that I didn't put more effort into it and I'm ashamed that this is going to do better than the other animation where I'm trying to do something worth it, something better where I push myself which can show how frustrated I'd be if someone put even less time and resources into making a captain sauce animation video by not even drawing anything at all and then getting a phrase like Jesus Christ flew down from the heavens

I hate myself and there's no excuse

I know nobody will ever read this nor even care but I'm just going to leave it here for anyone to see about my viewpoint about this video

I'll relove every comment I see in desperation for anyone to see this which I see as highly unlikely

I doubt that anyone would try to explain to me my possible misunderstanding and drama and instead ask when the animation will arrive and call me edgy so on second thought I think it would be better to just leave this comment be

I don't want to drag anyone to my insecurities I just wanted to be open and explain my current state of mind just to get it off my chest

(I promptly deleted this comment shortly afterwards)

“Watch this video if you’re feeling down” by markiplier

Mark I really like how you tried to fix the wounds of countless broken hearts around the world but I think I have a different problem, obstacles that is given off by myself instead of everyone else if everyone doubted that I could do something I'd try harder just to prove them wrong but if I can't force myself to do something that I care about, if I am not told to do something and if I can't be my own boss I'll never be able to do any project ever because they will take way too much time when in reality they could be done in a single day by someone else a SINGLE day and I haven't even finished the rough portion of an animation in my project making one frame in one day is not how you do your job or your hobby or your dreams why wouldn't I hate myself for that why would I tell myself that I'm doing great, it'll only make me lazier and even worse than before if I paint myself as the worst me I can ever be then why wouldn't I realize how bad my habits are and start fighting against it why wouldn't I break myself down until the inch of my life realizing " this is the worst thing I've ever done in my entire life and I need to fix it NOW "

I couldn't reach my goal of making a project in the summer, I decided not to continue it for days for no reason, I wasted precious seconds just because I couldn't force myself to work it's not even finished the stage of rough animation how can I redraw all of those frames to completion edit the sounds and finally throw that project away what do I do if I can't make myself work on my own, If I can't internalize working on something I care about how will I be my own boss, how will I learn how will I become better

I'm nothing but a failure because of all of this you can go ahead and call me emo or edgy or tell me that I'm trying to drag every person who got motivated from this video to my own insecurities like a villain it won't change a thing

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=YAKcbvioxFk> from what I have gathered up until now I'll try to make a simple short story in the comments here we go starting from 4:21 AM

Daniel was lying down like a puppet without its puppeteer, his head was leaning against the back of his bed staring at a brick the light hit his curtains but the puppeteer hasn't appeared the sun was glowing through the curtains screaming at him but he didn't move he continued looking at the brick until the puppeteer broke open the door and showered him with demands only then did the puppet move its legs the worst of all the only strings that the puppet had were attached to his head

Ended in 4:27 AM and yet I still have no idea if this is more of a story telling or story showing

I remember Matpat's theory about how Markiplier plays as his characters even in his normal videos like the poems of ddlc he made in the descriptions so since they spoke to one another recently he could've taken that idea and rolled with it or he just did it by impulse and doesn't actually have meaning or substance

It'll be my head canon because he mentioned the hat too many times for it to be just for the show just like how Matpat sees recurring lines in Fnaf books like the chewing of one of the characters being connected to Michel but I still have a feeling of it just actually being meaningless and me just forcing substance into something that isn't there well... my meaningful comment is gone again so I'll just simply say that it's a bit sad to think that the person in the video who's looking through these photos and videos were doing it over and over and over for an hour like they remember the good days that they'll never get again that's what I saw in it, I saw a crying sad person reminding themselves over and over beating themselves over and over

"now those times are dead they are dead

she is dead

hell even you are dead you will never be the same way ever again" if that doesn't describe my life I don't know what does every time life gives me something it brings it down to the depths of hell

happy? depressed beat depression? becoming less relatable and forgetting what pain feels like that allowed me to be a kind person like working? become lazy to the point that I take multiple weeks to draw ONE art

I'll be stripped of everything that makes myself me one day and I'll be a walking corpse

THAT is my prediction

I've realized I haven't been using this NEARLY okay here I go trying to find meaning again so his guy hides his entire body from one wing alone meaning there could be a possibility that either he's hiding his other wing too or he is missing that one wing so either showing half of his true abilities aka hiding his wing or he's hiding his weakness and tortured soul or it's like a way of hiding his body mid transformation since he has feathers growing out his head

Valve wishes they were as good about updating their stories as I am XD

I just saved this one because I want to get the...
OH RIGHT THAT OTHER COMICS TOO

I'll link to the first page instead of the one in which I made a comment... which seemed to have disappeared anyway

I just wanna have you read it from the ground up okay? it's actually really good... in my opinion

I'll kill myself the day the links lead to nowhere... who am I kidding I'll be far too dead by then and yes I became a HUUUUUUUUUGE Undertale fan... that only began his journey and has 7 years of history to go through oh also here's the dub version

Your comment on Loss

The lore of this image is thrust up against me now huh?

well I'll have to think of an alternate way of going about this or else I won't be able to put lore into something that wasn't there

(I do this because it's a way for me to come up with story ideas and I just feel like coming up with stories for images is fun) so she didn't lose anyone because... well... there was nobody there in the first place she lived inside her own head until reality finally broke her down enough for it to be impossible for her to ignore it killing her only family in the process and even when she lost all sense of imagination she still refused saying she'll never forget her brother

OOOOOR

She already lost her brother a very long time ago and she's stuck in a loop of grief where she sees her brother die she tries forgetting about him she accepts that he's dead but doesn't move on but "fixes" the problem by creating a new brother off of some bizarre magic recreated from her memories of who he was but every time she creates him and goes through the grief of losing him again she forgets what he used to be like and starts creating a monster that represents all of her deepest emotions there was another art I saw named "conflict" and it could be that she drew her own brother with ink and now that ink is becoming the monster I talked about earlier and to break out of the loop she has to beat the monster but again it might be that I accidentally Guessed your story

I don't know but again this is purely for fun I miss writing stories but I am not doing it as much which hurts me so I just decided to do these kinds of things to give me a feeling like I can at least come up with any sort of interesting concept

Empty
by Fr33zYCiCa

A hollow shell, devoid of soul, A sickly weight that takes its toll.
The absence of all things good,
A monster lurking in the hood.

The darkness takes its final breath,
As the emptiness of becomes your death.
A soulless creature, dead inside, An emptiness that never dies.

For those who dare to look within, Beware the monster is hiding within.
the emptiness may seem so sweet, Until it swallows you complete.

If this art represents mental emptiness is it showing your emptiness can spew out of you and into other people or does it mean it's so evident that you're empty you're overflowing with it

I read the poem and apparently people think being empty and devoid of emotion will be great like how I absolutely hate the sense of fear and happiness and anger and my lack of ability to control them but that if I was devoid of all of them I'd be swallowed by emptiness and suffer because of it

I don't remember much about the time I was suicidal but I don't remember me being suicidal because of my lack of emotion it was more about my lack of control over anything, now I have too much of it and don't struggle as much and the things I struggle with are things that suicide me would've thought as easy that's why I want to go back to being that way because right now I feel devoid of myself, devoid of my drive to draw write act speak think now my urge to have fun rips me apart leaving me with nothing

I wonder if Chara was a human soul and they could possess Frisk does this mean soul as in heart soul and soul soul are different things or if the soul energy is inside of the heart and when it breaks the human soul comes out of it because that should mean there should be more monster soul souls out there being capable of possessing people right?

I just realized I'm saving undertale comments here...

SCREW IT! it's fine... hopefully

"DOOM Is Too Violent"

33 seconds ago (edited)

I might have been a part of the few lucky people who were raised more by the internet than real life and ending up a better person even thought I still have a lot of issues such as selfishness laziness and losing my grip on knowing how to treat other people kindly oh that and I'm painfully illiterate

5 minutes ago (edited) now I wonder if adults blame everything bad at video games for their lack of responsibility or not their lack of understanding their children and trying to blame it on said children for them being violent instead of admitting it was their own fault for not raising them the correct way and now people take that and run with it as an excuse to badmouth other human beings and looking for more diverse reasons to judge them because they can't let themselves think that they're wrong which also comes from them not being raised correctly so that they'll actually be honest enough to realize how they can be wrong about something and be able to learn something new that can prove otherwise

I'm not saying you should blindly believe in everything but I'm not saying you should blindly look for ways to prove yourself correct even if it means sacrificing basic critical thinking neither

(I watched the last part of the video and it seems like he ended up with the same conclusion but described it much better than I did and even showing evidence proving his claim)
